

It is inconceivable that the mandate of the people can be challenged by the whim (that is a tongue in cheek reference to PAC money)of a single group. The State of Wisconsin should be a leader, not a follower bowing to the pressure of a major political contributor. Even the few calls I now receive are a major inconvenience and extremely annoying. I have shown my displeasure with telemarketers by signing up for the No-Call lists in Wisconsin and Nationally, twice by the way. I would never buy anything from a telemarketer over the phone, ever. But there is one thing I can do and that is VOTE and believe me when I say that I will go out of my way to vote against anyone or anything that promotes this unwanted intrusion.
